

Epicurean Philosophy for Parents

Post by “Elayne” of February 22, 2021 at 7:51 AM

I am starting a new job on March 1 and wanted to get my intellectual property public in some form prior to the start date, to retain control over it. The ideas in here are ones I have developed over 25 years of post- residency pediatric practice. I am posting it here because I included a little of my philosophy as part of it and added a link to this page. I even included my interest in EP on my bio for the clinic website! Even if you aren't interested in parenting strategies, it is an example of how philosophy can be incorporated into other subjects-- maybe you can think of a way to do that for your areas of interest.
