

Zoom Book Club For "A Few Days In Athens"

Post by "Don" of January 21, 2022 at 8:51 AM

Quote from Cassius

posting a link publicly on the EP Facebook group.

Intriguing idea, but I would be careful and think twice about posting the zoom link publicly. I speak from experience! Back when COVID started, we hosted an online book club and our first one had a "zoom bomber" share their screen with ... how do I say this delicately ... extremely explicit video. We were VERY new to Zoom and it was disturbing and embarrassing. That's a risk with a public link.

However, that's not heard of as much anymore and zoom has put some safety protocols in place. There's never any guarantee though.

Are there any free registration platforms it there? That way, people would register and receive the zoom invitation in their email.

Just an anecdote and an idea.