

New Sedley Chapter On Ancient Greek Atheism

Post by “Don” of April 13, 2022 at 8:47 PM

Quote from Matt

Probably far more Italian in mannerisms than their Gallic or British counterparts.

Let's not sell the Gauls short. Take a look at the Gallo-Roman city of Nimes and its preserved colosseum and temple.

Image not found or type unknown

Nîmes - Wikipedia

en.wikipedia.org

The Gauls weren't all Asterix and Obelix (although I have a soft spot for them as well as the historical Vercingetorix himself)

<http://www.epicureanfriends.com/thread/2436-new-sedley-chapter-on-ancient-greek-atheism/?postID=17561#post17561>