

The Garden Then -- and the Garden Now

Post by "Cassius" of April 25, 2022 at 6:34 PM

Quote from Kalosyni

(Sometimes brainstorming ideas get a bit carried away, lol, but that is how the best ideas happen, when you just let the creativity flow).

Yes exactly. It's too bad the Aristotelians trademarked the term "peripatetics" because a "walking group" might well fit the bill as a free and healthful activity that could be engaged in as a group and still combine philosophy. Maybe something like meeting at an appointed time at a park, then having a brief talk, then walking together.

(I am afraid my age is showing that "walking" sounds like more fun and more practical than a nudist colony 😊)