

Open Invitation Epicurean Zoom - Every Wednesday 8:30pm ET, beginning May 11th

Post by "Cassius" of May 12, 2022 at 12:54 PM

In terms of "special readings" it would probably be "fair use" to play relatively short excerpts from the Charleton Griffin reading of Lucretius, so that is one source of special material that would not take a lot of preparation, as we can easily identify especially important passages from Lucretius and listen to him if we don't have time to prepare a version ourselves.

That's an example - what are other options?