

Epicurus' Birthday 2023 - (The Most Comprehensive Picture Yet!)

Post by "Cassius" of November 26, 2022 at 10:24 AM

Gosh we just discussed this as recently as July? RE: Epicurus' Birthdate

And here's the 2019 version: Epicurus' Birthday Calculations

Your administrator is falling down on the job and we need to get his better organized. I will add this question to the FAQ and maybe designate one of these threads as a master thread and find a way to highlight it more prominently. I am sure this has been discussed probably at least once a year for the past five years or more and probably will continue to be asked, so it might even deserve a subforum of its own. Let me look into that.

For now here is a FAQ entry and I will feature the FAQ more prominently on the home page: <http://www.epicureanfriends.com/wcf/index.php?faq/#entry-35>

EDIT: Given that this question will keep getting asked, probably makes sense to open a subforum under the "Epicurus" section and try to move all the prior discussions from "General Discussion" into that thread.