

Perspectives On "Proving" That Pleasure is "The Good"

If it seemed like I was making a distinction there, that was not my intent.

"lower-case goods" == "goods"

I was being too clever for my own good.

Okay, I'll go along with that. Maybe I was being pedantic.

That said, it sounds like we agree that there are "goods" (αγαθός) as a category.

Is our hangup then seeing "the good" (ταγαθον < το "the" + αγαθον "good") as being one of these "goods" but being special in that it is the only "good thing" that does not point to any other "good thing"?
