

Metaphorically Picturing Epicurean Philosophy

Post by “Todd” of January 10, 2023 at 12:59 PM

I guess what I was trying to say above is: the cave should be an Epicurean metaphor.

It's really quite accurate to call it Plato's Cave, though. His ideas are largely responsible for chaining people in the cave in the first place. He advised rulers to do exactly that in the same goddamned book!