

Favorite Translation of Lucretius

Post by “Godfrey” of January 24, 2023 at 7:50 PM

Humphries does use "we" at line 112 (not 102). That doesn't bother me, though. It's in the midst of describing erroneous views of religion, and leading into the exposition on "nothing comes from nothing", where it's eventually made quite clear that everything is atoms and void.