

Frederick the Great Quote On Christianity

Post by “Martin” of February 23, 2019 at 10:13 AM

The quote is not included in the free on-line excerpt of what seems to be the political testament of 1768 but a number of books contain that testament. During my time-out in Germany, I can search for it in the library of Cologne, which was an independent city state until Napoleon and became part of Prussia after Napoleon's defeat and therefore should have some books on Prussia and its kings in the library.