

Welcome Goblin

Post by "Cassius" of March 24, 2023 at 5:58 PM

In case others missed it, Goblin posted this on my wall:

Quote

Glad to be new member. I'm 79 years old and live near Raleigh, North Carolina. Became interested in philosophy and found out Epicurus was the philosopher I most related to for living happily on the Earth when I took one of IDRLabs.com online tests. I try to live simply,, eat right, make sure that each day is pleasurable (because for me it leads to a strong will to live and a healthy outlook. My wife and I enjoy living on a small farm, keeping Morgan horses, keeping 2 dogs and 2 caets, and doing what we please each day. We are both retired now.

I'm somewhat distracted right now because ew don't yet have all our tax records together and we're running out of time to get them together. Hope none of our membership has the same problem! Best regards to all. Goblin

FWIW the "wall" is a good feature of the software, but it's not totally integrated and not everyone gets notified if someone posts there. That's why we use the "Welcome" thread to greet new people. Glad to have you!