Post by “Cassius” of October 18, 2023 at 7:41 PM

Tonight at 8pm, we will cover Vatican Saying 36 and 37. We will also have a special discussion led by Fernando on our upcoming interview of Dr. Boeri from South America.

Please join us. (Post here in this thread if you have never attended one of these sessions as we do have a vetting process for new participants.)

VS36. Epicurus' life, when compared to other men's in respect of gentleness and self-sufficiency, might be thought a mere legend.

VS37. Nature is weak toward evil, not toward good: because it is saved by pleasures, but destroyed by pains.
