

Forum Upgrade Issues and Downtime 12/28/23

Ongoing fixes;

- The Home Page contains an out-of-date description of available styles that will need to be updated.
- The forum logo no longer appears at the top of the Home Page on mobile.
- The browser tab icon, called a favicon, no longer shows a stylized bust of Epicurus.
- When you click on a #tag, it changes the style back to light mode. Edit; this only happened once to me. The dark style appears to be stable after that hiccup.

There appears to be better Unicode support on mobile. I have no idea if this is client-side or server-side, it's possible I only noticed it because of the update.

This is an Aldus Leaf, named after the Venetian Renaissance printer Aldus Manutius, who printed a handsome edition of Lucretius in December of 1500.
