

Maximum pleasure as absence of all pain: a philosophical question concerning neuroscientific and Epicurean outlook toward the feeling of pleasure

Post by “Godfrey” of January 20, 2024 at 7:18 PM

Quote from shahabgh66

* I could not find a reference to check whether this very claim is scientifically valid or not.

To paraphrase TauPhi, the original claim doesn't seem to be scientifically valid. To my limited understanding, the system producing these hormones is always working, even though we may not be conscious of it at a given moment.