

February 5, 2024 - First Monday Epicurean Philosophy Discussion

Post by “Kalosyni” of February 6, 2024 at 9:54 PM

Quote from Bryan

As for the nature of love (ἔρως), it's not even right to speak of it as a virtue, given that the act of falling in love is found to be extremely harmful and chaotic. Love, after all, borders on madness."

ἔρως = sexual love

And this sounds like it is describing extreme infatuation.