

Benefits of Memorizing and Remembering Specific Epicurean Verse

In last night's Zoom, Joshua mentioned that he had memorized the opening section of Lucretius' De Rerum Natura, on Venus, and recalled it to mind when at work to cheer himself up during dull moments (hopefully I am correctly recalling what you said Joshua). I am wondering which translation you use?

Thinking that we could use this thread for people to post about any specific verses that they like to use (recall) on a regular basis.
