

The evolving understanding of depression - a good article

Post by “BraydonKing” of April 6, 2024 at 6:34 AM

The link between inflammation and depression is intriguing and could open up new avenues for treatment and management. It's a reminder of how interconnected our physical and mental health are, and the importance of taking a holistic approach to healthcare.