

Purpose of this Subforum - Explaining How Illusions Are Corrected By The Senses Themselves

the senses report "truthfully" in the sense of "honestly"

"Honestly" might be confusing as it implies that the senses have a choice of being the good guys or the bad guys. Our senses are nothing more than very limited input devices and, within their limits, all they do is provide our brains unbiased inputs for further processing. Our brains are the bad guys lying to us all the time.

I don't think I have seen one like this before -- interesting to think about how this was created.

This was created in your lying brain due to phenomenon called pareidolia. 😊
