

Estimation of Category Breakdown of Extant Texts

Post by "Cassius" of June 23, 2024 at 1:06 PM

Yes every person probably needs a different percentage, depending on their background. As a general expectation, however, I doubt that much progress in the understanding of the ethics can occur without dealing with the canonics. And since the issue of "gods" is generally treated under physics/canonics, that another reason not to underestimate their importance.