Quote from Cassius

"she has made, does make, and will make innumerable worlds."

"has made, does make, and will make" is probably too formulaic to be evidence either way, but we have:

PD16, "Chance falls upon the wise man briefly: for Reasoning has managed the greatest and most critical things - and for the whole time of life manages and will manage." or

SV10 "Remember that you are of mortal nature and have a limited time to live and have devoted yourself to discussions on nature for all time and eternity, and have seen "things that are now and are to come and have been."

This last line there is a quote from Hesiod's Theogony line 38. εἰρεῦσαι τὰ τ' ἔοντα τὰ τ' ἔσσόμενα πρό τ' ἔοντα ""declaring the things that exist, the things that will exist, and the things existing before"
