Episode 266 - The Epicurean Paradigm Shift

Over the next several weeks or months I am going to turn this presentation into my "standard speech" and devote the time that I would otherwise spend on reinventing wheels to refining this presentation.

Later today I will release the podcast version, and a slide-show video version, of a much expanded edit of the presentation originally released on January 19.

The current version is over twice the length of the original, and contains lots more citations, plus a new approach to generative the slides that should work much better, and allow for easier revisions.

For the time being, here is the Youtube Video version, and "Discussion Outline" reference material. I'll update this post with the Podcast link shortly:
