

Question On Forum Operation

Post by "Martin" of June 15, 2019 at 1:44 AM

Typically, I access this homepage (and FB) between twice a day and once every 2 days on a laptop and usually not from a smartphone.

I mostly go down straight to the bottom and click on "Unread Posts" but ignore many links because I feel that I spend too much time reading instead of producing something new.

The only inconsistency of the interface is when I open the tab under "Notifications", "Moderation" or "Conversations" because a white on red number indicates how many new items there are, the links under the tabs usually do not lead me to anything which I did not yet read. Nevertheless, those numbers shrink and eventually disappear the more I go through the unread posts.