

Not Virtue, But Vigor

Post by "Cassius" of December 4, 2019 at 1:28 PM

Comment by Elli:

"Δύναμη" [dynamē] is the Greek word for the English words as force, vigor, power, and strength. Nature is dynamic and not static.

And as the ES 37 says : Nature is weak toward evil, not toward good: because it is saved by pleasures, but destroyed by pains.

Our natural condition is strengthened and enhanced by the enjoyment of pleasures past, present and expectation of the future ones.