

Navigating Family Prayer

Post by "Cassius" of December 21, 2019 at 11:20 PM

In my case the family that once caused those problems for me is now all dead, but I know exactly what you mean. I guess that is one benefit of getting older, you see less and less reason to waste time just for the sake of pleasing other people. But while they are still with you and important to you, it is definitely hard.