Quote from Charles

. Man was born to think & to act, & Philosophy is made to regulate the understanding & the will of man: everything that deviates from this goal is frivolous.

Wow that is quite a non-Epicurean start, in my humble opinion! I have not had a chance to read the full article but I will. Thanks for posting this Charles because I think it is very helpful to post and go through as many of the older "encyclopedia" entries that we can find.
