This is another great video by Eoghan and I highly recommend it. We haven't had a good in-depth discussion in a while about the differences between the Stoics and Epicureans, and this video highlights the essential points. There are a couple of minor points that I might suggest be said differently, but they are minor and discussion of those will be good for bringing out the subtleties. I hope everyone gets a chance to view this and comment. Thanks again Eoghan for your work!

Well produced; the images worked nicely with the audio. And well stated. [][[]]
