I am taking the time today to reorganize this forum:

Epicurean Historical Figures - Biographies of Epicureans from Epicurus To The Present

so that it will be easier to find and update as information can be accumulated. The impetus for this was to get the "Memorial Calendar" better organized with links to where information can be found and added.

At this point all I have the time to do is set these up, so anyone who has any interest in helping improve a particular biography (and most of them are bare-bones) please post in the respective thread. That will update the bio just by adding new posts, but over time we can compile the information and keep the first post up to date with a better summary.
