

Journal of happiness studies article on Epicurus

Post by “Don” of November 27, 2020 at 1:09 PM

This absence of pain becomes nonsensical too when you take it a translation and replace pleasure with absence of pain, ex:

PD 3. The magnitude of absence of pain is limited by the removal of all pain. Wherever there is absence of pain, so long as it is present, there is no pain either of body or of mind or both. (Hicks)