

The Tetrpharmakon - Sound Epicurean Doctrine, or Oversimplification?

Post by “Cassius” of December 9, 2020 at 2:30 PM

I agree with your conclusion as you state it, Don. I hope we can continue to dig into the commentaries that have been written on this particular scroll because they seem to be right on point with many of our current issues. It sounds like Philodemus was dealing with much the same problem that we deal with today, in terms of how to be clear and accurate and yet make our point to people outside the circle.