

Episode Forty-Eight - Nature Speaks To Us About Death

Post by “Cassius” of December 11, 2020 at 9:07 PM

Episode Forty-Eight of the Lucretius Today Podcast is now available. In today's episode, we will cover roughly lines 931-1023 from Book 3 of the Latin Text. In this episode we will hear Nature speak to us about death, and Lucretius will compare the myths of Tityus, Sisyphus, and Tantalus to the tortures that actually exist for some people on Earth. This episode was particularly personal to us as Elayne rejoins the podcast after the recent death of her father.

As always we invite your comments and suggestions.

<https://www.spreaker.com/episode/42444074>