

Reverence and Awe In Epicurean Philosophy

Post by "Joshua" of December 27, 2020 at 7:58 PM

There are logical reasons why "one god" doesn't work in Epicurean philosophy, regardless of its other attributes. Nature never furnishes only one thing of a kind. In an infinite cosmos these forms are being endlessly thrown up somewhere.

This assumes, of course, that one takes the realist view of Epicurean divinity.