Thanks for reminding us of the upcoming birthday! Every year we go through this same issue. Let's make a new thread for this and talk about how to commemorate it.

I also posted this at facebook to see if the Greeks who check that page come up with a different calculation.

It looks like Takis and the Hellenion calendars corroborate each other.

So, January's 20th actually coincides with Epicurus's birthday on the 7th of Gamelion! That seems to be a significant coincidence (not cosmically 😊 but at least an interesting one).

Here's a corrected link for the Numachi site:
