

Albert Einstein, "Foreword to Lucretius"

Post by "Joshua" of March 5, 2021 at 7:28 PM

Quote

For anyone who is not completely submerged in the spirit of our age, who feels instead like a spectator as the world goes past him, especially, from time to time, vis-à-vis the intellectual attitudes of his contemporaries — on him will Lucretius's poem work its magic

I don't know anything more about this quote than can be found here, but it might be worth looking in to!