Thank you for the warm welcome.

I am beginning my journey regarding Epicurean thought; interestingly, after getting to know more about the same, I realize that I have always held beliefs and attitudes that seem in accord with what knowledge I am gaining through my pursuit. This observation reinforces my -feeling- that Epicurean thought is a natural condition, for humans, and most likely all animals; all mammals for sure. Just ask my cat!

I look forward to gaining a greater understanding from this website; this should provide "pleasure"....

Cheers from Canada.
