

Welcome (I think!) To "ProstheticConscience"!

Good day.,

I joined the forum as I have a friend who holds Epicurean views, and I was interested in knowing more. I'm more nihilism/weak anthropic leaning myself, a "there's no meaning outside of what we make for ourselves" viewpoint if you will, and it's chance we're here to see it. However I'm not here to debate these points, but rather to learn of Epicurean philosophical viewpoints.

Much of it agrees with my core beliefs, so there should be no issues on that account, especially with the rejection of Platonic ideals (I could go on and on about this in particular, especially in regards to engineering!)

I likely will lurk until I know more, no one enjoys well meaning but ignorant comments, or off topic and specious ones.

thank you.
