Hi Cassius. Thank you, glad to be here.

I discovered your podcast by chance, just after exploring Lucretius' book. I decided to learn more in depth about epicurean ideas, as I am in tune with them in many respects. I do enjoy the podcast, by the way.

I live in Britain, although my first language is Spanish. So I smile every time you people discuss about different translations and interpretations. fascinating!

I don't feel confident to participate yet, but I am sure this is the right place to keep learning about this subject (apart of the podcast). Great forum. Thanks.
