i want to add this:

Quote from Marco

not have to work for something after their death,

This is the one that always seem to me personally to be one of the most effective. Most of the people in my circle of contact are infected by the belief that there is life after death, so they build in an attitude that this is all just a warm-up for live in heaven (or some kind of existence) after death.

To me it is one of the most motivating things in life to realize that I have a time limit to get done the things i want to get done, and to realize that once I am dead, I will experience nothing ever again.

If people really took that point to heart I think most of us would act much differently, and that's why it appears several times in the remaining Epicurean texts.
