

Practical exercises: PD2

Post by “Don” of July 5, 2021 at 3:52 PM

Quote from Cassius

Correct me if I am wrong, but I think you probably mean "if we can find pleasure even in THINKING ABOUT death....."??

That was how I interpreted Godfrey 's post.

For me, "death is nothing to us," means there really is no "state of being dead" - we longer exist and therefore "we" can't be said to exist in a certain "state." We can certainly be "dying" but we can't really be said to "be dead." After we die, we can't be said "to be" anything. We have ceased to exist.