

The "Non-Aggression Principle" And Its Relationship To Epicurean Philosophy

Post by "Don" of July 18, 2021 at 5:50 PM

I was unaware of this idea previously, so I'm curious to read what everyone thinks is the connection between this NAP concept has to Epicurus's basic "natural justice" contract of "neither harm nor be harmed."

However, Cassius is correct in that it can't take precedence over pleasure/living a pleasurable life. It can at most be instrumental like virtue.