Thank you for the welcome. I have arrived here after listening to a couple of your podcast episodes which I appreciated - I liked the group dynamic and also found them an enjoyable way to read On the Nature of Things, which is a book that I have been trying to read for a while. I have been interested in Epicurean philosophy since I studied a short course on Hellenistic philosophy, but admit to having had the flighty approach of the dilettante. However, I now wish to seriously look at Epicurean philosophy with a view to applying it in my own life.
