

Not all research is scientific, or involves critical thinking.

Post by “Cassius” of July 30, 2021 at 9:35 PM

Oh my! Good catch Don, we need to look into this. You are certainly correct -- there is no hint or anything I have ever seen anyone refer to as to another text which indicates that the particles "decide" anything. and of course there are repeated references as to how living things com from non-living particles, and something that is not alive presumably by definition doesn't decide anything!