Quote from Cassius

If for absolutely certain you were sure you would be dead in ten seconds regardless, it might then make sense to jump off the wall of the Grand Canyon to experience the thrill of flight for nine seconds - a calculation that would not ordinarily be valid.

I think I've mentioned this elsewhere, but there's a Buddhist saying that: If you were to fall to your death from as great height, it would be a shame to miss the view on the way down.
