

Declaration Of Rights Of Epicureans To Freedom of Religion - Cassius' Declaration of August 20, 2021

Post by "Cassius" of August 20, 2021 at 5:28 PM

I think it is totally compatible with the intent of this thread to discuss and debate competing views of the entire subject, so these are good starting comments. The basic point is compatible regardless of whether you take an "idealist" or "realist" position, and those two positions are probably as close or close as the respective competing camps within most well-known religious denominations - and perhaps closer.

It has been a while since i glanced at the "On Piety" material or any of the other more obscure texts. If someone recalls any specific references to any deities that would probably be good to add to the discussion.