

Implement A Roadmap Or 'User Ranking According To Texts Read' System?

Post by "Cassius" of August 25, 2021 at 6:09 AM

Camotero thanks again for this suggestion. I split these posts out to a separate thread and added them to my to-do list.

I am still considering whether this is best implemented by a single page which lists each user with a progress bar indicating how many of the "core texts" they have read, or some type of trophy or indicator under the avatar similar to the existing "activity point" system.

Probably the real question is where and how to gather the data. We can set up a "custom user field" in the user profile, but i am not sure that data is then usable for anything elsewhere on the site. Right now the "poll" feature might be useable. A "Poll" thread allows user input and shows a ranking after participating in the poll. So far I haven't found a wotlab plugin directly on point. Or perhaps there is some kind of "survey" website where this could be done externally and then incorporated.