

Multiple Components Comprise the Epicurean Life

Post by “Godfrey” of October 21, 2021 at 11:13 PM

Quote from Kalosyni

Emphasis on action as a verb, rather than on an object or noun.

For some reason this brings to mind static and kinetic pleasures. Expressed as verbs, static pleasure is understanding the correct philosophy while kinetic pleasure is living joyously, wisely beautifully, rightly.