

Episode Ninety-Nine - The Epicurean View of Justice (Part Two)

Post by "Don" of December 11, 2021 at 4:46 PM

Ex.

Post

RE: Anticipations - Justice & Divine Nature

[...]

I completely understand where you're coming from. However, the "blank slate" idea, while a popular and long-standing theory, has been well debunked. There is a lot of fascinating research on babies and toddlers.

[...]

Excellent observation! This sense - anticipation - of "justice" or "fairness" has been observed in monkeys as well. I think I've posted elsewhere on there forum on this, but the one that comes to mind is the experiment where two monkeys are given a task and rewarded with a...

Don

August 16, 2021 at 7:40 AM