

A "Daily Epicurean"?

Post by "Cassius" of December 27, 2021 at 10:12 AM

It seems likely that this project would lend itself toward setting up a Google Doc (where multiple shared editing is easier) and the next issue would be that of setting up a format.

Just as a very quick place to brainstorm:

Image not found or type unknown

The Daily Epicurean

January February March April May June July August September October November December

docs.google.com

(this is currently set to anyone with the link can comment, but if we actually get started then those who really want to work on it can be added as full editors)