

Proselytising and pleasure: compatible?

Post by “smoothiekiwi” of January 6, 2022 at 4:43 PM

So basically, would that mean that one should tell his friends about the philosophy, about whom one knows that they might enjoy it, but abstain from proselytising complete strangers?

Because that would make far more sense, and align with human nature in a far better way than the Christian proselytising does, at least as far as I can tell.