Here is a post from Holly at Facebook earlier this week. It is so frustrating that this is so hard to do:

"I have been following this FB group, and they calculate today as being 5 Gamelion, so the 7th would be Sunday."

So, basically what we have here are two Hellenic reconstructionist neo-pagan groups coming up with two slightly different calendars.

I'm sticking to the original one I posted from Hellenion since they linked to (what seems) some authoritative sources for their calculations. But, in the end, we're all pretending we can pinpoint a birthday that happened 2,300+ years ago to the day.

As someone said here, it's the celebration (and commemoration) that counts.
