

Happy Birthday EricR!

Post by "Cassius" of January 24, 2022 at 9:03 AM

Happy Birthday @EricR ! And you're the very first entry in our new "Happy Birthday" subforum. This isn't generated by a robot but by the poster of the event. That means that we need to monitor the "Today's Birthday" box and keep up with this (and add Happy Birthday entries) personally - which is the way it should be. Anyone who notices a "Today's Birthday" entry that doesn't have a corresponding Happy Birthday thread here, please feel free to start the thread yourself - that will help a lot!

We've been talking lately about ways to build community and get to know each other better, so today let's say "Happy Birthday" to EricR in the Frozen North -- quite possibly our highest latitude participant here on the forum.

Eric - hope you are doing well and thanks for your past participation in the forum!

And for those of you who don't know him, Eric is a talented writer and musician which you can check out on his timeline.